Special school pupil voice pilot programme

Help shape practice in your school and influence SEND policy nationally

NASS and Kaleidoscope have joined forces to invest in a new pilot that puts special school pupils' experiences at the heart of school improvement and SEND reform.

Launching in January 2027, participating schools will gain powerful insights into inclusion and belonging, practical tools for action and the opportunity to help shape national conversations about the future of SEND.

WHY TAKE PART?

Through this supported pilot, your school will:

- Understand how pupils experience inclusion and belonging
- Identify strengths, barriers and opportunities for improvement
- Develop evidence-informed actions that make a difference
- Measure progress over time
- Contribute anonymised evidence that helps NASS represent special school voices in discussions about SEND reform

WHAT YOUR SCHOOL RECEIVES

A full year's access to the Kaleidoscope platform, including:

- ✓ Pupil, staff and parent & carer surveys
- ✓ Kaleidoscope's leadership inclusion audit
- ✓ Your school's dashboard
- ✓ Coaching recommendations and action plan
- ✓ Whole-staff access to Kaleidoscope's Champion Hub

Schools will follow a 90-Day Inclusion Roadmap, with an onboarding webinar, named Kaleidoscope support and regular updates.
